1. Introduction:

This report presents a data analysis and marketing plan proposal for Reformation, a U.S. sustainable fashion label founded in Los Angeles in 2009. It builds on the findings from Assignment 1, a data analysis insight report. According to Reformation, “We are climate positive by 2025 and by 2030, everything we make will be part of a circular fashion system” (Oh hi, we’re Reformation – About Us, 2025).

Constructed from the foundation of Assignment 1, this report extends the analysis into a marketing plan covering the most recent 90-day period for Reformation (December 31, 2025 – March 30, 2026). It focuses on identifying social media and product sales data insights and developing a set of clear and tangible recommendations to optimise future marketing activities. Data has been sourced from Semrush—which provides traffic analytics and social media performance insights—and Edited, which offers analysis of Reformation’s product catalogue and U.S. pricing range (the Australian range could not be accessed).

The purpose of this report is to identify four key digital marketing perceptions for Reformation, accompanied by two opportunity insights and two risk insights, which can be extrapolated into a clear and tangible set of recommendations to optimise the brand’s digital marketing activity for the next 90 days (April–June 2026). The report is structured to present evidence from the data and to provide strategic recommendations and support.

From Assignment 1, it was established that Reformation’s target audience is Gen Z and young millennials aged approximately 18–35, who adopt and prioritise sustainable values.

This assignment and report will focus on the US market, as my Semrush account could not access data for the Australian (AU) market.

3. 90-Day Data Review - Social Media

Platform Overview: Edited Market is a retail platform and database that tracks the inventory of fashion online stores. Fashion brands and buyers can use it to monitor product availability, pricing, and assortment data, where assortment refers to the variety and structure of Reformation's products. Edited Market's promise is to "build and optimise the right assortment, fast – reduce waste and increase sell-through" (EDITED, 2026). For this assignment, Reformation's U.S. range data was taken from the Edited Market workbook, focusing on maxi dresses in the high-end category. The analysis considered in-stock women's products priced between AUD $100 and $600, excluding second-hand retailers (semrush2026).

Data Assortment Overview: The Reformation assortment on EDITED shows 2,999 dress SKUs priced between approximately AUD $100 and $550 (EDITED Market, 2026). A keyword search for "linen dress" reveals a broad price range, including styles such as the Mora Linen Dress (AUD $178.39), Kuini Linen Dress (AUD $303.82), Jessi Linen Dress (AUD $206.27), Fraise Linen Dress (AUD $457.13), Roma Linen Dress (AUD $387.44), and the Pomona Linen Dress (AUD $415.32). Overall, the linen dress range spans roughly AUD $179–$457, indicating a balanced assortment across both more accessible and higher price points. The chart below compares dress assortment category keywords by SKU count, contrasting all dresses with those captured under the "all dresses," "linen dress," and "white dress" keywords (semrush2026).

5. 90-Day SEO & Website Review: Semrush

Traffic Analytics — February 2026: Reformation on Semrush recorded 7,000,000 visits, a 14.7% decline from the previous period. The purchase conversion rate has dropped by 50.8%, causing a critical downturn in revenue — roughly half the customers who previously completed a purchase are no longer doing so. In addition, the bounce rate has increased by 8.65 percentage points to 40.44%, while pages per session have decreased by 28.44%. At this bounce rate, around 4 out of every 10 visitors are leaving the website without engaging further with the Restoration site (semrush2026).

SEO Domain Overview — US, March 2026: The website has an authority score of 63, which is considered excellent, as it is based on three key factors: backlinks, organic traffic, and search and website quality. This indicates a strong and credible online foundation. Semrush reports 1,500,000 organic US monthly visitors and 373,500 ranked keywords, as well as 139,000 paid traffic visits per month. The dramatic rise in paid traffic highlights an important shift towards increased search investment for Reformation. The brand holds position 1 for core branded terms such as “reformation” (1,000,000 monthly searches), “reformation dress” (74,000 searches), and “reformation clothing” (14,800 searches). In addition, the high-volume generic term “white dress” has 135,000 monthly searches where Reformation ranks in position 3, demonstrating strong SEO performance for both branded and non-branded keywords (Check Website Traffic In One Click | Traffic Analytics 2026).

Organic vs Paid Traffic (US, Mar 2026)

Traffic Type	Monthly Visits	% Change	Note
Organic Traffic (US)	1500000	6.1%	Authority Score 63
Paid Traffic (US)	139000	278.0%	278% growth

Keyword Intent & Competitor Landscape: Keyword intent is almost evenly split between informational (36.8% / 193,800 keywords) and commercial (37% / 194,200 keywords), with transactional terms making up 22% and navigational/commercial variations at 36.9%. This indicates that Reformation is successfully capturing both the discovery (research) and purchasing stages of the consumer journey. The competitive landscape shows that Princess Polly is Reformation’s strongest competitor, sharing 10,715 overlapping keywords — the highest of any competitor.

Princess Polly and Reformation are directly competing, as Princess Polly significantly outperforms Reformation in backlinks (494,300 vs. 15,000), meaning they are targeting the same consumers at the same time. Princess Polly’s stronger backlink profile may allow it to capture more purchase-ready traffic, despite both brands appealing to a similar target audience but with different price positioning and sustainability perceptions (Princess Polly: approximately $50–$200; Reformation: approximately $150–$500). On Semrush, Reformation also appears in AI-generated search results, with 40,400 worldwide mentions and 2,200 cited pages across platforms such as ChatGPT and Google AI (Free Keyword Checker: Check Keyword Difficulty & Competition, 2026).
